What are the permitted copyright uses?

Subscriber shall be granted electronic access to the AccuNet/AP Multimedia Archive (the Archive) solely for the purpose of electronically viewing individual photographs and images in the Multimedia Archive and making laser or desk jet prints of such content; provided, however, that the Subscriber is not delinquent with respect to payment of all applicable fees due and owing under this Agreement (the "Agreement") to AccuWeather. Subscriber acknowledges that it understands that the image resolution of the Multimedia Archive content, when printed, is 72 dots per inch.

The Archive shall be used by Subscriber for the following purposes:

- (1) Printed copies of images for book reports, term papers, theses, class handouts and research,
- (2) "Power Point™ type presentations, overhead projections, slide shows, and other similar multimedia presentations whose usage is confined to the licensed institution,
- (3) Transmitting an individual image to an authorized e-mail user,
- (4) Archive photographs shall not be used or published in newspapers, magazines, brochures, catalogs, commercial announcements, calendars, posters, yearbooks, playbills, newsletters, on t-shirts, or promotional items, or for commercial use or gain of any kind.
- (5) The content of the Multimedia Archive shall be that normally provided by AccuWeather Sales and Service from time to time.
- (6) Unless expressly authorized by AccuWeather Sales and Service in writing and subject to payment of additional licensing fees specified by AccuWeather Sales and Service, all other forms of access and use of the Multimedia Archive and its constituent elements are expressly disallowed, including, by way of example and not limitation:
 - (a) accessing or using the Multimedia Archive while being delinquent with respect to any applicable fees hereunder, or
 - (b) electronically downloading, manipulating or creating derivative works in any media except as allowed in this Agreement,
 - (c) electronically transmitting the Multimedia Archive and/or its constituent elements, or other such activity, except as allowed in this Agreement
- (7) In addition to the permitted uses described above, Subscriber may also allow Subscriber's users to access the Multimedia Archive remotely [i.e., from off-site via computer]; provided that:
 - (i) only persons who are members (teachers/students/staff) of Subscriber shall be permitted to remotely access the Multimedia Archive,
 - (ii) each person remotely accessing the Multimedia Archive shall count toward the maximum number of persons permitted to be logged on at any given time, and
 - (iii) all of the terms and conditions applicable under this Agreement to users who access or view the Multimedia Archive at Subscriber's premises shall apply to persons remotely accessing the Multimedia Archive.
